

Join UNODA and IANSA's webinar for #InternationalWomensDay on:

ENSURING GENDER MAINSTREAMING IN SMALL ARMS CONTROL

International Women's Day gives us the opportunity to advocate for women's rights and to bring attention to issues such as gender equality, reproductive rights, and armed violence against women. The day also marks a call to action to accelerate gender parity. Ensuring the systematic mainstreaming of gender aspects in all small arms and light weapons regulatory instruments, policies and measures at the global, regional and national levels can directly contribute to the elimination of all forms of violence and discrimination against women.

During this event, we will support the online launch of UNODA's "Training Manual on Mainstreaming Gender in Small Arms Control." This manual is intended to guide the integration of gender dimensions into national small arms projects, programmes, and policies. The webinar will provide a panel with the opportunity to speak more in-depth about the need for methods to ensure that gender dimensions form an integral part of the analysis, planning, implementation, monitoring and evaluation of small arms control actions, particularly at the national level.
